OB/GYN Practice is pioneer in Minimal Invasive Surgery

Chouchani, Sayegh & Bagnarello, MD, LLP, is a premier medical practice for women throughout Western New York, with three offices located in Williamsville, Kenmore and Alden. The practice was started by Dr. Gabriel Chouchani in 1975 and has grown to include Dr. Adel Chouchani, Dr. Magdi Sayegh, Dr. Carola Bagnarello and Dr. Christian Chouchani. The group is well known, trusted and respected in Western New York and beyond.

Chouchani, Sayegh & Bagnarello have been pioneers in minimal invasive surgery since 1992, replacing open procedures with laparoscopic and vaginal approaches. “We started Robotic surgeries in July 2010 and our patients are extremely satisfied with the results” said Dr. Sayegh. “In our Practice, the whole patient is our primary concern. We, the doctors, nurses, medical and office assistants; pride ourselves on providing personal and friendly care.” said Dr. Adel Chouchani.

This group serves over 10,000 patients, with most pregnant women delivering at Sisters of Charity Hospital. Multiple office locations enable the group to serve more patients at convenient locations.

When it comes to pregnancy, the physicians are very involved in the care of their patients and want the experience for every mom to be positive. They offer routine and High Risk prenatal care, Genetic and Birth Defect Testing, in-office Ultrasound, care through Amniocentesis, assistance with Infertility Management as well as the ability to try Labor after C-Section.

Chouchani, Sayegh & Bagnarello, MD’s annual and preventative exams and office visits are scheduled five days a week, including evenings. The practice also care for women throughout their lives in order to create a long term relationship that fosters a strong bond with patients for life. They want to be in sync with patients needs and the latest care options.
